SPENT A FORTUNE IN SEARCH FOR HEALTH

Prominent Los Angeles Hotel Man Says He Tried Every Treatment Money Could Buy Without Getting Relief.

"In 1900 I suffered a general breakdown and during those 20 years I spent a fortune searching for health," said Harry McAvoy, of the Alexandria Hotel of Los Angeles, one of the largest and finest hotels in southern California.

HARRY MCAVOY, of Los Angeles, who declares he suffered 20 years.

"I went to the best specialists in New York, Chicago, New Orleans and Seattle. I tried every medicine and treatment money could buy, but the only relief I could get was a little temporary relief. Finally I gave out completely under the strain and had to quit work altogether. I was terribly discouraged over my condition and felt that I would be an invalid for the rest of my days.

"I had indication by its very worst form. In fact, I was a confirmed dyspeptic; nothing agreed with me and I suffered from all the terrible symptoms of indigestion. My heart pained me badly. I thought I had lost my mind and I would never be able to work again. I was a weak and feeble man and several times I felt that my life was over.

EL PASO HERALD

New School Building To Be Social Center, Too

IN the erection of the new Douglas public school in East El Paso, a social center for the negro population of El Paso is being provided as well as a public school.

The school is to be erected on five acres of ground in the vicinity of the El Paso foundry, and in addition to class rooms, there is to be a large auditorium, seating 500 people, a recitation hall, a teachers' lounge, a rest room and cloak room, the same size and other modern conveniences. The plans have been drawn for the school by A. E. Patton, supervising architect for the city school board and were submitted on Wednesday to the contractors for bids.

The building is to cost around $41,000, according to the estimates of Mr. Patton, and there will be nine class rooms besides the auditorium and principal's and teachers' rooms.

Paris Doctors' Union Takes Sweet Revenge on the Railroad Men

Paris, France, March 21.—The doctors' union of the town of Mont de Marsan took sweet revenge on the railroad men during the recent general strike in France. When the government requisitioned all stores of gasoline because of the strike the doctors had to walk instead of motor. To keep appointments they therefore announced that they would not treat sick railwaymen except in the most urgent cases. The dentists joined the doctors and refused to give any aid to suffering strikers.

There are nearly 500 active volcanoes in the world, many of them, however, being quite small.

Hogwallow Locals

By DUNK HOPPS.

RAZ BARLOW attempted to shoot a Jay-bird that was sitting on the limb of a dead tree, this morning, but before he had fired a great many shots the bird flew away, leaving grown suspicious of what Raz was trying to do.

Poke Earley took the family clock to pieces Sunday and put it back together, but it would not run. Upon closer investigation he found that while he had put it back right he had accidentally left out four or five of the little cog wheels, which was the only reason it wouldn't run, and ought not to be held as a reflection on his workmanship.

Clad Hancock says it is remarkable how firmly a fellow can get in debt when he had plenty of credit and no money.

Why Measles May Be Dangerous

This is No. 3 of a series of advertisements, prepared by a competent physician, explaining how certain diseases which attack the air passages—such as Pneumonia, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Measles or even a long continued Cough—often leave these organs in an inflamed, congested state, thus affording a favorable foothold for invading germs. And how Vicks' Vapo-Rub may be of value in this condition.

Few of us escape measles—it is one of the commonest of childhood diseases. Every mother knows the symptoms, but the mistake that most mothers make is in failing to realize that the child is not fully recovered after the eruption and fever disappear. The air passages are still inflamed and if this inflammation is not cleared up, the air passages may be weakened, thus paving the way for pneumonia or serious disease of the lungs. Nightly applications of Vicks' VapoRub will aid nature in relieving this inflammation. Because Vicks acts locally by stimulation thru the skin to draw out the inflammation, attract the blood away from the congested spots and relieve the cough. In addition, the medicinal ingredients of Vicks are vaporized by the body heat. These vapors are breathed in all night long, bringing the medication to bear directly upon the inflamed areas. Children's digestions are delicate—easily disturbed by too much "dosing." Vicks, therefore, is particularly recommended since it is externally applied and so can be used often and freely without the slightest harmful effects. Vicks should be rubbed in over the throat and chest until the skin is red—then spread on thickly and covered with hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck and the bed clothes arranged in the form of a funnel so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. If the cough is annoying, swallow a small bit of Vicks the size of a pea. Samples to new users will be sent free on request to the Vicks Chemical Company, 233 Broad Street, Greensboro, N. C.
